

“Visuals can provide us with additional information beyond written or verbal instruction. It can help us process and understand what is expected. The World Health Organization (WHO) recommends frequent and thorough hand washing to prevent the spread of COVID-19. Handwashing can be a confusing and uncomfortable process for many of our clients who need to work through sensory difficulties to complete the task. Here is a visual task strip that may help.”